The fog comes on little cat feet.
It sits looking over harbor and city
on silent haunches
and then moves on.

— "Fog", by Carl Sandburg

A tree against an amber sky, silhouetted on a hilltop—
three-armed and back, its branches upward reach
As if even to touch that very blue
From which the stars begin to sully trip.

The night is frosty cold; the melody of moonlight
Sings its blessing tenderly as far-off church bells chime
And toll the passing hours, O night,
may I thy calmness know That healing peace may come again to me.

— ("Nightfall")

He had a plowman's strength
In the grasp of his hand:
He could see a crow
three miles away,
and the trout beneath the stone

He could hear the green oats growing, and the south-west wind making rain
He could hear the wheel upon the hill
when it left the level road
He could make a gate, and dig a pit, and plough as straight as stone can fall.

And he is dead.
— "Lost in France" by Earnest Dicky

WOMAN

She's an angel in truth, a demon in fiction,
A woman's the greatest of all contradictions.

She's afraid of a cockroach, she'll jump at a mouse,
But she'll tackle a husband as big as a house.

She'll take him for better, she'll take him for worse
She'll split his head open and then be his nurse.

And when he is well and can get out of bed,
She'll pick up a teapot and throw it at his head.

She's natural, deceitful, keen-sighted and blind,
She's crafty, she's simple, she's cruel and she's kind.

She'll lift a man up, she'll cast a man down,
She'll make her hero, her ruler, her clown.

You fancy she's this, but you find that she's that For she'll play like a kitten and fight like a cat.

In the morning she will, in the evening she won't
And you're always expecting she will, but she won't. —Contributed

THE WORLD OF WHEAT

By H. G. L. Strange Director, Research Department.

The Canadian Seed Growers' Association met towards the end of June for what was in effect its 35th Annual Convention.

Thousands of farmers no doubt will have read this announcement. In the press, and will think perhaps it is of little or no concern of theirs.

The fact is, however, that if thirty eight years ago the late Dr. James W. Robertson, the late Sir William G. Macdonald and Mr. George H. Clark, who until recently was Seed Commissioner of Canada, had not had a real veritable vision about seed selection, it is quite probable that Canadian wheat would not have the reputation it enjoys today on World's markets.

That consequently much less wheat each year would have been exported, therefore much less produced, hence that the population of Western Canada would be considerably smaller than it is. Members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, for thirty eight years, have maintained in a pure state such important varieties as Red Fife and Marquis wheats, and have made large quantities of pure seed of these varieties available to farmers at reasonable prices.

The Canadian Seed Growers' Association, I suggest, deserves well of every farmer, and of all those who depend upon farmers for a living, in Western Canada, for it has made, through the efforts of its members, vitally important contributions to warlike the advancement of Canadian agriculture.

Following factors have tended to raise prices: First increases in the United States— Continental port stocks vary small— Norway purchases crop of China, Manchuria and Japan considerably smaller than 1922-23 average— Heavy rains retard Kansas harvest— Netherlands to create war food reserves.

Following factors have tended to lower prices:— Much needed rains occur over northern parts of Prairie Province— New Russian wheat of excellent quality— Expect Russian wheat surplus of 80 million— Improve ment in Italian prospects— Beneficial rains in Australia— Large rye supplies a prospect in U. S.— European rye prospects much better than 1927.

WHAT AM I?

In the paper, but not in the bag,
In the lace, but not in the tar,
In the wind, but not in the air,
In the blink, but not in the stare,
In the nut, but not in the shell,
In the ring, but not in the knell,
In the face, but not in the book,
In the raven, but not in the rook,
Together my whole very useful can be As when you open me you will see.
—Answer in Common Even's Column

CROP CONDITIONS

With the copious rains of the last few days, Alberta's wheat fields are giving signs of an abundant crop. Farmers say there is enough moisture now to carry the wheat through to the full head. Then if we do not have the hot, drying winds, nor hail, the Province will reap the best harvest it has had for years.

The Industrial East Spends over $40,000,000 with the Western Farmer each year

Any fellow who consumes over $40,000,000 worth of Western goods is worth knowing. And when you know him, you'll find he's a pretty good fellow — a worker and a family man like yourself, who likes to keep busy.

Your purchase of a Canadian-built car helps keep him busy and on a payroll. For Eastern automobile plants alone employ over 18,000 workers and in turn, spread employment — and purchasing power — over many other industries, including textiles, paints, glass, chemicals and steel.

Sure, it's a good thing to know that the Eastern industrial worker is busy and happy and in a position to maintain and augment his purchases which in 1936 alone included over 80,000 tons of fresh dressed meats, 175,705 head of cattle, 21,144 calves and 41,557 hogs to say nothing of 10,000 tons of butter and poultry, eggs, honey, grain products and other commodities to the value of more than $15,000,000.

For statistical and further information about this industry, write to Automotive Industries, 1006 Lumsden Building, Toronto.

How Does Life Insurance Benefit The Farmer's Wife and Children?

Answer.—If the farmer has Life Insurance, the wife and children know that they will not be in want in case of his death.

Question.—How would insurance help?

Answer.—It would provide money for living expenses, to pay debts, meet mortgage payments, hire help, avoid sale of the farm at a sacrifice.

Q.—Couldn't this be done through ordinary savings?

A.—Usually a farmer leaves only a small amount of cash. Nor can he be sure to live long enough to save an adequate sum. Only through Life Insurance can he, with a minimum of saving each year, have the necessary money available in case of death.

Q.—How do the children benefit?

A.—The father who has Life Insurance is sure that the children will have the home, care and education that he intended.

Q.—How does Life Insurance benefit the farmer himself?

—If he lives to a retiring age, his insurance will provide a cash income to care for him.

HITLER AND PRESIDENT BENES

President Benes believes that the "Fascist" will collapse of its own accumulated weight. He thinks the job of the democracies is to avoid war at almost any cost until time comes to their side. Edward Benes is thus an optimist. He refuses to believe that Germany will launch his little State.

President Benes hopes to cool the Sudeten crisis with a new minority statute.

Bloodless Conquest?

Most observers agree, however, that the Führer will accept no "solution" of the Sudeten problem, will instead keep this pot caldron bubbling as long as necessary to force State man Benes into an agreement. The kind of agreement Hitler would like to make with Czechoslovakia would force Czechoslovakia into the economic structure of the Reich and place her foreign trade under German limitations.

To put Czechoslovakia under the economic yoke, Germany does not have to go to war with Czechoslovakia—she already holds the young nation economically at her mercy. Although Czechoslovakia is nearly 90 per cent agricultural, producing what, rye, barley, oats, hop vines in Bohemia, potatoes and sugar beets in Moravia, and 25 per cent of her land is forest covered, she depends principally on her industries for her favorable balance of trade, which in 1937 reached an impressive $50,000,000.

Nothing but a trickle of these products could leave landlocked Czechoslovakia, if Hitler decided to crash down, for most of the country's trade is carried by German rails or rivers to the German ports.

The Czechs are apprehensive over the prospects; last week in Berlin a Czech mission was striving to reach an agreement on the amount of goods which can be carried over the former Austrian railroads to Trieste.

Thus it may well be that the destiny of Europe will be decided bloodlessly. If the powers on whom President Benes now optimistically depends do not move to guarantee his political status quo, the time may come when the little President will be sucked willy-nilly into the German sphere of influence. If so, Germany will have bullied or bluffed her way to European supremacy and the whole issue of Czechoslovakian independence will have been swallowed by issues far graver and deeper.

If you have built castles in the air, your work need not be lost. That is where they should be. Now put the foundations under.—Thoreau.

MAKING CANADA

A Better Place In Which to Live and Work

To Geo. W. James,

President C. W. N. A.

Dear Editor—

In response to your letter, I should like to say that the officers of the Canadian National Railways are always conscious of the important part the weekly newspapers play in Canadian affairs and that we fully appreciate the keen interest the members of your association take in the welfare of the National Railways System. We have noticed with satisfaction that you have extended this to Canada's newest enterprise, the TransCanada Air Lines.

I hope that the weekly newspapers will continue their valuable work of fostering a spirit of unity throughout the Dominion and encouraging Canadians to work for steady improvement in conditions by avoiding useless controversies which can only tend to retard the nation's progress. Above all, I hope you will carry on your encouragement of those positivists who seem to have no other contribution to make than the forecast of disaster. The things to be advocated today it seems to me, are the avoidance of doing things which might cause sectional, racial or any other form of strife, and the positive qualities of some optimism and hard work. These I think you will agree, are Canadian to recognize them as the basis of them; we must maintain and extend them.

With kind regards and all good wishes to your membership and to yourself, I am, Yours faithfully,
S. J. HUNGERFORD,
Chairman and President,
Canadian National Railways.

HUMOR IN THE ADS

The unconscious humor of some advertisements is indicated in the following selections—

LOST.—A pound note by a working girl tied in a knot.

WANTED.—A capable housekeeper able to milk cows, to keep house for one.

LOST.—A fountain pen by a man half full of ink.

FOR SALE.—Buildings, will eat anything; very fond of children.

LOST.—A watch by a man with a cracked face.

Birthday Anticipations

By BETTY BARCLAY

Five years old and going strong. He can run races all day long. Lunch for five is right on top. Isn't he the happy chap?

Anticipation may often be better than realization so far as adults are concerned, but "realization" is the thing with children. Christmas, picture or birthday parties reach their zenith when they arrive—not before.

But even with children anticipation should be considered. Myriads of packages, a well set table, dainty invitation cards, or a preview of attractive decorated desserts bring joy to a child's heart and a smile of rapture to his face. Prepare your child's birthday menu as carefully as you prepare your bride party luncheon. Use frills galore, but keep the foods simple, beautiful and light. Serve the meal at the regular time. For dessert, use something like a light rennet custard. It requires no cooking and no baking, may be prepared in advance, and may be decorated so that it will bring pleasure to the little host and his guests—with no ill after-effects when the guests reach their homes.

Here is a suggested child's birthday menu, also a recipe for the dessert:

Fruit Cup Tiny chicken, Jam and baked butter sandwiches
Your favorite Birthday Cake
Lemon Rice Rennet-Custard
Fruit juice or milk
Milk
Lemon Rice Rennet-Custard
1 cup uncooked rice
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon sugar
2 tablespoons cream
1 package lemon rennet powder
Drop rice into about 1½ quarts of rapidly boiling salted water and cook until grains are tender, about 20 minutes. Turn into sieve, rinse in cold water, and steam over boiling water until grains are dry and fluffy. Divide rice among 6 sherbet cups which have been trimmed with frills made from outer edges of luncheon dollars; drop rice in very loosely. Warm milk to lukewarm, add eggs and cream. Remove from stove, stir in rennet powder until dissolved, and pour over rice. Let stand 10 minutes without moving; then set in refrigerator to chill. Garnish if desired with a sprinkling of finely chopped preserved ginger or crystallized ginger; or cook 2 tablespoons chopped preserved ginger with the rice. If desired, add ¼ cup washed raisins to the rice just before setting.

Yield: 6 desserts.

THE PRINTER'S ART

Marked progress has been made in the past 50 years in many lines, but in no field is there greater advance than in that of printing. Modern presses turn out work that is a joy to behold and is a keen rival of painted and water color painting.

To our desk this morning came two pamphlets, reprinted from the Canadian Geographical Journal, delightful products of the printer's art. The subjects "Canadian Mountain Playgrounds" and "Playgrounds of the Prairies" are described by the fluent pen of R.C. Stead of Ottawa formerly of Calgary, and make most interesting reading.

LAWSON

We are glad to say that David Hecke, who has been seriously ill in hospital in Calgary, is much better.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Braden and family have been enjoying the company of friends who motored from Spokane on June 26th. Since then they have all been visiting at Three Hills, Carlton, Trochu, and Sundre, where the Stampede was the attraction. Mr. and Mrs. W. Alcock attended the Imperial Oil banquet on Monday evening.

THE SPORTS LEDGER

Here is a story about a fish which isn't really a "fish story," that is to say in the first place it isn't really a story at all, as a matter of fact Gordon Bishop of Calgary has a photograph to prove his feat, he captured a forty pounder up in Lake Minnewanka in the Banff National Parks. The fish measured 28 1/2 inches long and 36 inches in girth. Well, come on you local anglers let's have a little action. We would like to see more fish and hear less fish tales.

Max Schmeling, the brawny German Heavy weight mauler remained flat on his back for the trip home to his native Bleich. He is still suffering from the spinal injury which was believed to be the reason for his poor showing against the Brown Bomber, Joe Louis.

The first 10 cars in the Indianapolis 400 mile race went through the event without changing a spark plug. A Four Cylinder motor delivers 16,000 sparks per minute to the plugs, granting this, there were four million sparks produced in Floyd Roberts' winning car. Not such a bad record for Spark plugs.

It looks like Alberta Hockey will pick up next season. Cam Bruce, star forward, who performed with the North Battleford Beavers in Calgary 2 years ago has just been signed up by coach Elmer Piper of the Turner Valley Oilers. A great array of hockey talent is already lined up, here's hoping Turner Valley brings the Hockey

Crown to Alberta.

Receipts from the Louis Schmeling bout total a $100,000 gained from Movie and Radio rights. Louis receives $21,245 for his 2 minutes while Maxie gets the consolation of $10,000 about half of the change's share.

Carl Hubbell scored his 200th ball victory when the Giants trounced the Chicago Cubs. He ranks with Lefty Grove of the Boston Red Sox, Earl Whitehill of the Cleveland Indians and Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox in that set.
